Street scene in front of the Bathurst Police station

"May day, May day!"

By Alan Taylor, with a photo by Alan Taylor, Bathurst, 1978

By Alan Taylor

"Media must be changed from a means of distorted ideas to a means of communication. Radio would be the most wonderful means of communication among people in public life, a large linked system — that is to say, it would be such if it were capable not only of transmitting but of receiving, of showing the listener not only to hear but to speak and did that society then but brought these into contact. During 1978, in this social system, available to masses, these proposals, which are, after all, only the real and comprehensive of technical development, help towards the propagation and shaping of that other system." — Dennis Dorch

It is a fact that the Bathurst Police station is a large, multi-story building with a prominent central entrance and several windows. A crowd of people is gathered in front of the station, and a police officer is visible in the foreground. The scene appears to be during a public demonstration or protest.
